MR. TAFT IS FOR IT

PRESIDENT IN HIS SPECIAL MES-SAGE TAKES HIS STAND FOR CONSERVATION.

ENDORSESOME RECOMMENDATIONS

Advises That the Government Issue $30,000,000 of Bonds for the Purpose of Aiding the Reciamation Projects.

Taft, in his special message on the conservation of natural resources, sent to congress today, says:

Among the most noteworthy reforms initiated by my distinguished predecessor were the vigorous prosecution of land fraude, and the bringing to public attention the necessity for preserving the remaining public domain from further spoilation, for TOPEKA, KAS., NO LONGER IN the maintenance and extension of our forest resources, and for the enactment of laws amending the obsolete statutes so as to retain governmental control over that part of the public domain in which there are valuable RAILROADS ARE HEAVY SUFFERERS deposits of coal, of oil and of phosphate, and in addition thereto, to preserve control under conditions favorable to the public, of the lands along the streams in which the fall water can be made to generate power to be transmitted in the form of electricity many miles to the point of its use, known as "water power

Unfortunately, congress has not thus far fully acted on the recommendations of the executive, and the ques tion as to what the executive is to do is, under the circumstances, full of difficulty. It seems to me that it is the duty of congress now, by a statute, to validate the withdrawals which have been made by the secretary of the interior and the presi dent and to authorize the secretary of islation to meet conditions or emergencies as they arise

Lands Should Be Classified. One of the most pressing needs in ther the interests of the students. the matter of public land reforms is that lands should be classified according to their principal value or the "Record," the school paper, of lower prices, the demand was more use. This ought to be done by that which Albert Boughner, of the Senior active than this year. department whose force is best class, is the editor. adapted to the work. It should be done by the interior department through the geological survey. Much of the confusion, fraud and contention which has existed in the past has arisen from the lack of an official and determinative classification of the public lands and their contents.

It is now proposed to dispose of agricultural lands as such, and at the same time to reserve for other disposition the treasure of coal, oil, as phaltum, natural gas and phosphate contained therein. This may be best accomplished by separating the right to mine from the title to the surface, giving the necessary use of so much of the latter as may be required for the extraction of the deposits. The surface might be disposed of as agri cultural land under the general agricultural statutes, while the coal or other mineral could be disposed of by lease on a royalty basis, with provisions requiring a certain amount of development each year; and in order to prevent the use and cession of such lands with others of similar character so as to constitute a monopoly forbidden by law, the lease should contain suitable provision sub- victims of the coasting accident at It is true that the weather has jecting to forfeiture the interest of Jefferson City last Sunday, sustaining moderated somewhat from the severi-could not marry them unless the pesons participating in such monop painful injuries, is recovering nicely, ty of the past few weeks, and per-bride's name appeared on the license as well as to the United States.

Foster Country's Resources.

In considering the conservation of the natural resources of the country, the feature that transcends all others is the soil of the country. It is incumbent upon the government to foster by all available means the resources of the country that produce the food of the people. To this end the conservation of the soils of the country should be cared for with all means at the government's disposal.

"Paid in Full" Tonight.

"Paid in Full," which comes to the Sedalia theater tonight, is doubtless the best attraction that will appear in Sedalia this year. Besides being Eugene Walters' masterpiece, the play that made his fame and started his fortune, it is acknowledged one of the greatest of modern dramas, one that at its first presentation startled the world and ever since has held without abatement the interest of every class of people. Tonight will be the first time that "Paid in Full" has ever been in Sedalia, and it should be greeted with a packed house.

Plenty of Coal n Tracks, It is Said-Demurrage of $2,500 is Being Paid Daily by Chicago Jobbers at Present.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 14.—Hundreds of cars of coal are standing in Chicago railroad yards and demurrage rates of at least $2,500 a day are being paid to the railroads here for the privilege of permitting them to remain in the yards, according to information made public by men who have been investigating the causes of the present coal scarcity.

This amount is being cheerfully paid, it is declared, so the consignees may reap a rich harvest if the threatened coal famine becomes a reality.

President Fred W. Upham, of the City Fuel company, yesterday said not one of the 1,673 cars found in the Illinois Central yards at Wildwood, Ill., seventeen miles out, was consigned to his company.

He said they were consigned to local jobbers, and intimated that they were being leit unloaded in the expectation of a rise in the price of fuel.

"But who is paying the demurrage on all those cars?" Upham was asked. "Why, the jobbers or the dealers to whom they are consigned," he replied. cents or $1 a ton, could they not? Burlington, Ia., Jan. 14.-After refusing for several hours to make a statement concerning the alleged confession of Ray Lamphere in the Gunness butcheries at La Porte, Ind., Dr. Schell announced last night that he had never repeated to any person the admissions made to him by the convicted man.

"About the first of the year," he said, "I was interviewed by the :epresentative of a metropolitan newspaper, who sought to elicit the story related to me by Lamphere.

"Reasons were advanced as to why I should make public any information given to me in the several conversations I had with him. I declined to talk, and later consulted with several ministers and laymen as to my duty in connection with my knowledge of the affair.

"I became convinced, both from their advice and the dictates of my own conscience, that any admissions made to me were sacred, and I have since at all times refused to divulge any part of the conversations."

The confession, as alleged to have been made by Lamphere, was repeated to the minister, and he reiterated that he had not divulged any such confession to any person.

most striking example of the transforming effect of forests, not only on the appearance, but on the productivity of a country, is afforded by the department of the Landes in France. At the close of the eighteenth century about 2,500,000 acres in that region were "little more than shifting sand dunes and disease-breeding marshes. At present the same lands are among the richest, most productive and healthful in France, and the change has been brought about by intelligent cultivation of pine forests. Not Altogether a Treat. Coming out of one of the large department stores two well-dressed women saw a group of street urchins gazing at their automobile and one little girl was heard to say: "Wish I could have a ride in it." The women smiled and then the child was asked if she would really like a ride and was $56, he looked upon it simply as an- ing the women that she would not be missed at home. Her companions set up a cheer as the machine started and It returned half an hour later, bringing back the little girl. The women congratulated themselves on having given the little one an extraordinary treat, but were disenchanted when she told them that her father was a chauffeur and that she liked his machine "a great deal better."-New York Tribune.

Making Meal-Time Pleasant.

A Harlem mother has struck upon a plan which adds greatly to the general good humor of the household over which she presides. A son works with his father down town, and there are three girls and a boy in school. At dinner every night each member of the little circle must tell the funniest incident in his or her personal experiences of the day. Tried as an experiment, the idea has been made permanent, and it provides a barrel of fun every 24 hours. SENSATIONAL "SITTING" AT FARO GAME IS AIRED IN NEW YORK COURTS.

ANE PLAYER WHO LOST $100,000

Frank McDougail Institutes Suit Against "Billy" Nolan to Recover on a Check Calling for $13,600.

New York, Jan. 14.—The tale of faro game, in which $100,000 was lost at one sitting was unfolded in the superior court yesterday through a motion made before Justice Hendrix in a suit brought by Frank McDougall against William H. (Billy) Nolan to recover on a check for $13,600.

It appears from the assertion of the lawsers that Nolan and Philip McKenna engaged in the game, which the limit was set at $1,000 on the cases and $2,000 on the doubles.

Nolan, according to Jesse Epstein, McDougalls counsel, backed the dealer. At the end of an all night session McKenna was said to have won

"It's a novel thing to hear of a man running a gambling game losing so much money," commented Justice Hendrix after hearing the argument. "Unsually it's the public that loses."

Mr. Epstein explained that Mc-Dougall had nothing to do with the game; he was an onlooker and after Nolan had lost McKenna called for

"Nolan offered him a check for $13,600 in part payment," Epstein said, "but McKenna said he didn't want checks. So Nolan asked Me-Dougall to cash the check and hand the money over to McKenna, which

It appears that McDougall, who says he had no part in the game, 15 the only one who is out any money. He says he can't collect from Nolan, as Nolan is trying to make it appear that he lost the amount he paid to McKenna and the law protects him

Nolan is widely known about town. He was once a telegraph operator. McDougall is from Newport. He is wealthy.

At Recent Dance In the Quaker City everal Hundred Live Canaries Were Released and Floated Through Ballroom.

Philadelphia, Jan. 14.-A fierce rivalry between the social leaders of Philadelphia will culminate tonight with the Stotesbury bali, which is expected to be even more elaborate, costly and unique in its features than its predecessors, the Widener and Frazier balls. The latter cost more than $10,000, and the Widener affair was equally expensive.

Society folk if this supposedly staid city are vastly excited over tonight's affair, which is expected to develop new and sensational features.

At the Frazier dance, given at the Bellevue-Stratford on New Year's eve, several hundred live canary birds were released and floated through the ballroom.

The birds were concealed in one 'of the several large balls of roses which were suspended from the ceiling. At the stroke of midnight the balls were opened and large quantities of confetti sifted upon the dancers from the other rose balls.

The canaries coming down on the heads of the dancers were caught by them and placed in beribboned cages which were ready to receive them.

KEPT MULES ON THE MOVE

Hitched to Speeding Automobile Team for a While Had the Time of Their Lives.

Here is a story from Manhattan with vaudeville features, not to mention the hard luck:

A farmer living on Deep creek, several miles east of Manhattan, had a thrilling experience with an automobile and a team of mules. The farmer recently had purchased a new machine, and on one of his first trips tried to cross the creek at a ford. He put the clutch at high speed and waded in. For some reason the engine went dead in midstream. Cranking failed to revive it. After a number of useless efmules, hitched them to the stubborn auto and dragged the machine across the creek and up the bank. The driver had left the clutch on at high speed, and from some unaccountable cause as soon as the machine was on level road the engine suddenly revived, the machine started forward with a bound and struck the mules squarely in their kicking apparatus. There was something doing immediately thereafter The mules started off full tilt with the machine chugging after them; the driver being occupied with the mules, could not give the machine much attention. The machine was soon going at a great speed, striking the mules on the heels again and again. Both team and machine became unmanageable; but the mules suddenly jumped to one side, bringing the machine sharply around and causing it to strike a bank of earth, thus bringing the strange runaway to an abrupt end .-Kansas City Journal.

Shipper Didn't by Any Means Object to Having the Girl Find Out What His Gift Cost.

A young man brought a package into the main office of an express company on lower Broadway the other day and asked the receiving clerk to send it to a town up state.

The clerk weighed the package and then asked the young man if he destred to declare the value of it. The young man said he would and put the figure at $75. Then the clerk marked in a corner of the package in very small letters "V75." The young man asked the meaning

"That is the abbreviation of value $75," said the clerk. "Why do you print it in such small letters in an out-of-the-way place?" "Because most folks do not care to have the value marked in letters that will attract attention," replied the clerk.

"Well, I tell you, if this was just an said the young man, "but the truth is that this is a present I am sending to my intended up state, so if it is agree able, will you kindly mark that 'V75' in big letters up near her name, where she'll be sure to see it?"-New York

Post Offices In Competition. When the post office was first opened at Kai Feng, China, the clerks had a fight with some men who bought stamps and refused to go away until the stamps were licked and stuck on their envelopes for them. The foreign post offices in Palestine are usually convulsed by spirit of keen competition. If a parcel exceeding the regulation weight or size is taken to an office and refused the traveler in the majority of cases has only to threaten to take it to a rival office and it is straightway received without a murmur. So keen is the rivalry between some of these offices that residents in Palestine possess a free post within certain districts. Between Jaffa and the surrounding colonies, and also within Jerusalem, the German and Austrian offices make no charge for the delivery of local letters.

PROPER WAY TO DRINK MILK

Should Be Consumed Slowly-Best Method is to Take Teaspoonful at a Time.

There are two ways of drinking milk, the right and the wrong way, and a majority of people drink it the wrong way. This is the chief reason why milk disagrees with some people. Milk must not be imbibed like water. It should be drank very slowly, a sip at a time. Really the best way is to take a teaspoonful at a time.

There is a scientific reason for drinking milk slowly and in small quantities. Milk curdles as soon as it comes into contact with the juice of the stomach. If a whole glass of milk Washington, Jan. 14.—Alleging that forts, the farmer secured a team of is taken at one draught into the stomwhich the gastric juices cannot readily penetrate and act with the necessary solvent power.

Milk, without question, is one of the most valuable of foods. It contains all the elements n cessary for maintaining the physical health of those who know how to use it properly. Indeed, most people would be better off physically if milk and entire wheat bread formed their ordinary diet. Especially is this true of delicate persons whose powers of digestion have become enfeebled. Persons suffering from nervous prostration are not able to digest meat, and will find a purely milk diet of the greatest benefit, provided they imbibe it properly. Horace Fletcher says that each mouthful of milk should be held in the mouth long enough to enjoy the chemical action of the saliva before swallowing.

The art of small talk is one that many women try to cultivate, and there are instances of clever talkers who find employment as exponents of the art of light conversation. Their method is to read the newspapers daily, to keep in touch with the latest books, to know something special about all the new plays, and to invent small scraps of information just bordering on the scandalous. While the society woman is undergoing treatment at the hands of the hair dresser her expert conversationalist sits by her side and chats, as it were casually, on the subjects of the moment, so that her bon mots may be natural resources that the government has entered upon. It would appear that over thirty projects have been undertaken, and that a few of these are likely to be unsuccessful because of the lack of water or for other reasons.

One of the Difficulties. One of the difficulties which has arisen is that too many projects in view of the available funds have been set on foot. The funds available under the reclamation statute are inadequate to complete these projects within a reasonable time. And yet the projects have been begun; settlers have been invited to take up and in many instances have taken up, the pit land within the projects, relying upon their prompt completion. The failure to complete the projects for their benefit is, in effect a breach of faith and leaves them in a most distressing condition, I urge that the nation ought to afford the means to lift them out of the very desperate condition in which they now are. This condition does not indicate any excessive waste or any corruption on the part of the reclamation service. It only indicates an over-zealous desire to extend the benefit of reclamation to as many acres and as many states as possible. I recommend therefore, that authority be given to issue not exceeding thirty million dollars of bonds from time to time as the secretary of the interior shall find it necessary, the proceeds to be applied to the completion of the projects already begun and their proper extension, and the bonds running ten years or more, to be taken up by the proceeds of returns to the reclamation fund, which returns, as the years go on, will increase rapidly in

Recommendations Are Endorsed. I urge consideration of the recommendations of the secretary of the interior in his annual report for amendments of the reclamation act, proposing other relief for setders on these

What I have said is really an epitome of the recommendations of the secretary of the interior in respect to the future conservation of the public domain in his present annual report. He has given close attention to the problem of dispositon of these lands under such conditions as to invite the private capital necessary to their development on the one hand, and the maintenance of the restrictions necessary to prevent monopoly and abuse from absolute ownership on the other. These recommendations are incorporated in bills he has prepared, and they are at the disposition of the congress. I earnestly recommend that all the suggestions which he has made with respect to these lands shall be embodied in statutes, and especially, that the withdrawals already made shall be validated so far as necessary and that the authority of the secretary of the in terior to withdraw lands for the pur pose of submitting recommendations as to the future disposition of them where new legislation is needed shall

DON'T ALL APPROVE OF WINK

British Bishops Differ in Opinion Over Girls' Fun, and One Is Given Lesson.

Though a well-known English bishop has just been stating publicly that he regards it as a most pleasant form of recognition to be winked at in the street by young women living in the districts where he has worked, there is at least one of his Episcopal brethren who used to take a very different view of such salutations.

This pompous worthy was much incensed on one occasion when h was giving what he believed to be very impressive lecture to a 17-yearold society girl who had been handed over to him for admonishment, to observe her left eye close in a deliberate wink. He sternly told her that such an action was practically akin to immoral behavior, to which she promptly replied: "Rats!" and turned on her heel and walked off.

She has since married and entertains largely. At a recent charity function, at which the bishop was present, she was introduced to him. He failed to recognize her as a former acquaintance until she gave him another of her elaborate winks and said, very archly: "Perhaps you remember me now, my lord!" He did, and what is more, entered into the spirit of the joke, which he now often tells against himself.

Nathan B. Williams, a lawyer of Fayetteville, Ark., instituted a complaint against Wells, Fargo & Co. in which he asserted that the carriage of packages of four pounds or less by express companies between interstate points was unlawful, because congress had committed the carriage of such packets to the mails and had made it unlawful for any private express to carry the same.

He declared also that the interstate commerce commission was without legal authority to make rates or to enforce tariffs concerning express transportation of such packages.

A LARGE AUDIENCE WAS PRESENT

The Program Was One of the Most Delightful Ever Presented for the Edification of a Sedalia Audience.

A large audience of Sedalia music lovers and society people filled the New Sedalia theater last night to hear Mr. Reed Miller's song recital, and it can be truthfully said that there was not one who was present but went away enthusiastic over Mr. Miller's beautiful voice and singing.

The program was a gem from beginning to end. Mr. Miller has by nature a pleasing personality. A southerner by birth, he possesses temperament, fire and at the same time an exquisite refinement which would win his way with any audience, even if he had a less beautiful organ with which to interpret his songs.

But he is gifted with a magnificent tenor voice of great range, and with a well nigh perfectly even scale, something rare even among the greatest

It would be impossible in a short criticism to mention each number, but let it be said that every one deserved a special mention. He displayed great breadth of style and complete mastery of the oratorio in his singing of the Handel songs. The dramatic side was wonderfully displayed in Salter's "Cry of Rachel." but his masterpiece was Walter's Prize Song from "Die Mustersinger." This showed his great voice, dramatic abilty, interpretation, shading, and indeed everything which goes to make up a great singer.

The audience was captivated with 'Im Zettern Mondlicht Wiegen," and Mr. Miller sang it twice.

"Daheim," by Kaun, and "Back to Ireland" struck a popular chord. "The Couplet," by Tschaiowsky, was dainty and magnetic. In fact, his whole program was what it should be and will long be remembered by all pres

Mr. Isaac Farris played the accompaniments for Mr. Miller in a manner which corresponded to Mr. Miller's singing-artistic sympathetic and fin ished. Indeed, one rarely hears such accompanying as Mr. Farris gave last brother at Kansas City. Cliff Garton night.

MISSIONARY MOVEMENT THAT WILL ATTRACT CONSIDER-ABLE ATTENTION.

DINNER AT HOTEL ASTOR TONIGHT

The Object of Parties Interested Is to Evangelize the World -Bulk of Work in the Hands of Laymen.

New York, Jan. 14 .- Opening tonight with a dinner at the Hotel Astor and closing on the following Sunday night with a great meeting at the Hippodrome, the local laymen of the Laymen's Missionary movement promises one of the most interesting series of meetings ever held by that body.

The work is undenominational and has for its purpose the evangelization of the world.

In every part of the world there are organized districts for carrying on the work, and each has been allotted a share of the total expense, amounting to some thirty millions of dollars, which it is estimated will be necessary to complete the work.

While the clergy is prominent in the movement, the bulk of the work is in the hands of the laymen. Preliminary meetings have been held in the various districts of the metropolitan section during the week preceding the meeting.

This movement, the American section of which will end at Chicago in May, is regarded by christian work ers as the most important work of that has ever been undertaken since the Crusades, and has for its object the christianization of the entire world during the present generation. The movement is confined to men alone. Every christian country has assumed its part of the burden of raising about thirty millions of dollars in the aid of both native and) foreign missions.

NOT IN LINE WITH PROGRESS

Professor's Experience Aptly Illustrates Difference Between Old and New Worlds.

Prof. George Loeb Grinnell, the noted western etymologist, said in the course of a recent address before a congress of librarians in Wichita:

"My recent English tour has convinced me that we Americans write better English and speak better English than our friends overseas." He smiled.

"Yes," he said, "we excel the English in the use of the language as we the bladder, brick-dust or sediment in excel them is the use of plumbing. John M. Briggs, an independent New York ice dealer, was so incensed that he went hunting for Charles W. Morse with a revolver, bent on killing the "ice king" on sight, according to Briggs' own testimony at the trial of the ice trust for violation of the Doninelly anti-monopoly law before Justice Wheeler in the supreme court. "You don't like Mr. Morse?" asked John B. Stanchfield, counsel for the "No, I do not."

"And it is true that you once threatned to shoot him?"

"Well, I was chasing after him with a gun for two weeks once," was the witness' frank reply.

Briggs went on to say that in March, 1900. While he was engaged in the ice business on the Hudson he had gone to Morse, then president of the Consolidated Ice Company, to complain of the breaking up of the Independents' ice on the Hudson by trust vessels.

New York, Jan. 4.1-Young ans all over the country will be interested to learn that this is the birthday of Buster Brown's pa, R. F. Outcault, the cartoonist, who is 47 years old today.

"Buster" has been a mighty profitable offspring to Mr. Outcault, and dutifully gives his daddy a large share of his earnings from newspapers and

Some time ago a New York newspaper tried to get "Buster" away from Mr. Outcault, on the ground that the latter wasn't the proper sort of a parent for such a boy. Although the courts decided in favor of the paper, "Buster" cleverly avoided a change of paternal ancestors by merely dropping his name.

He had become so famous and was so well known all over the country that he didn't need any name to maintain his fame and his place in the affections of American youth.

Mr. Outcault also wants to make have amused themselves by peeping his birthday the occasion of paying a in the windows. by His Advisers.

When King Gustavus III. was in Paris, he was visited by a deputation of the Sorbonne. That learned body congratulated the king on the happy fortune which had given him so great a man as Scheele, the discoverer of magnesium, as his subject and fellowcountryman. The king, who took small interest in the progress of science, felt somewhat ashamed that he should be so ignorant as never even to have heard of the renowned chemist. He dispatched a courier at once to Sweden with the laconic order: "Scheele is to be immediately raised to the dignity and title of a count." 'His majesty must be obeyed." said the prime minister, as he read the order; "but who in the world is Scheele?" A secretary was told to make inquiries. He came back to the premier with very full information. "Scheele is a good sort of fellow," said he, "a lieutenant in the artillery, a capital shot, and a first-rate hand at billiards." The next day the lieutenant became a count, and the illustrious scholar and scientist remained a simple burgher. The error was not discovered until the king returned home. His majesty was indignant. "You must be all fools," he exclaimed, "not to know who Scheele is!"

SOUARE HOLE EASILY BORED

Simple Explanation Disproves General Idea That Achievement Is an Impossibility.

It would seem, on first thought, an mpossibility to bore a square hole. In reality nothing is simpler. The basis of the operation is the fact that as a circle rolls on a straight line, the center describes a parallel straight line. For instance, the hub of a car riage wheel moves along at a constant distance from the ground. Hence if we cause a cutter situated at the center of a cylindrical shank to roll on a straight guide the cutter will trace out a straight line. If the guide be broken into four sides of a square the shank will roll on these four sides, one after the other, and the cutter will ream out an equal square.

At the same time the motion of the tool is a rotary one, very similar to boring a round hole. The only troujacent one there is a slight irregularity in the motion, so that the corners of the square hole are not sharp, but slightly rounded. This rounding may be reduced to a minimum and it is not a serious objection in any case.

Cat That Loves His Bath. "Talk about the Englishman and his bath! He isn't a marker on the cat I saw," said a man who had called the night before on the owners of the cat. "Mark Antony is the son of Julia Pry, who was given her name because she used to pry open the folding doors with her paw. But this Mark Antony would take a dozen baths a day if any one would fill up the tub for him. When he was a kitten he used to be put in the bath tub, where he was deemed safe, as he lived in a flat. The water dripped from the faucet and gave Mark something to amuse himself with. He evidently grew up to love the water, and now when any one comes in the door Mark Antony is there, and would lead even the utmost stranger bathroomward, that he might fill up the tub enough for him

He had wedded a popular actress, much to the dismay of his friends. He was fond of the practical things of life. His friends were sure the professional lady would prove anything but everywhere and at the W. E. Bard a helpmeet for him.

"It was their first breakfast in the pretty suite in the little flat. The coffee was delicious, and the steak of the exact rareness he preferred, and he had never eaten such rolls. He held one of the latter aloft.

PRIESTS ARE GOOD FARMERS

Trappist Monks in Canada Have Made for Themselves a Reputation for Excellence.

Scattered throughout Canada are many curious religious communes, especially in the province of Quebec, but there is none more curious or interesting than the settlements of the Trappist monks.

This brotherhood has three settlements in the dominion-in Nova Scotia at Tracadie, in wilds of northern Quebec, near the Lake St. John district, and on the banks of the Ottawa river not far from Montreal. One of the most interesting of the monasteries is that near the village of Oka, on the Ottawa river.

The Trappist is a farmer as weil as a priest, and the Oka farm of 800 acres is one of the best tilled in that part of Canada. All kinds of grain are grown, an excellent vegetable garden is maintained, and a large orchard and vineyard add picturesqueness to the rural scene. But the Trappist is a stock grower as well as an agriculturist. There are few finer thorough-

SUPPLY OF WATER

HAS BEEN DEFICIENT IN SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA. SINCE BIG FIRE.

ARE HOLDING SPECIAL ELECTION

Voters Will Today Decide Between the Two Propositions Placed Upon the Ballots By the City Council.

San Francisco, Jan. 14 - San Francisco's water supply, which has been deficient since the "big fire," will be vastly improved if the voters of the city decide to accept any of the plans submitted to them in today's special

The electors are indicating at the polls whether they desire to purchase the Spring Valley plant alone, the Tuolumme plant alone, or have water supplied by a combination of both.

The voters will decide between two propositions which have been placed upon the ballot.

One will be for the development of the Tuolumme plans for $45,000,000, and the other for the purchase of the Spring Valley plant for $35,000,000.

A proviso is added that in the event of both propositions passing then but $23,000,000 in bonds are to be issued for the Tuolumme proposition, covering the supply from the Sierras to San Francisco, where will be taken care of by the Spring Valley's distributing system.

BAN ON SHAKESPEARE

City Council May Prohibit Bard's Plays as Immoral.

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 14.-Advices not yet confirmed say that William Shakespeare, writer of plays and poetry, is hastening across the River ordinance before the city council here

The measure, if passed, will bar from Des Moines theaters most of Shakespeare's dramas, as well as all modern dramas.

The ordinance introduced by Commissioner J. L. Hammerly, is the outgrowth of a bitter war waged against a local burlesque house, which the reform element declares is naughty.

The document is aimed to prohibit the portrayal of crimes, suicdes or any immoral act in a play or in moving pictures and makes it illegal to advertise any such performance on

CHILDISH SIDE OF CRIMINALS

Theories of Dr. Lombroso Illustrated by the Case of His Smallest Son.

"I visited the famous Dr. Lombroso in Italy," said a magazine editor of New York, "in order to secure from inals. Dr. Lombroso showed me through the Turin jail.

"The criminals in this jail he compared to children. They were not insane, but they had a childish way of gratifying their own desires without regard to others' sufferings.

"He illustrated this childish selfishness with a case in point. He said he had at one time a guest with a deformed foot. His little son was about seven, and he debated whether or no he should caution the lad against mentioning his deformity to the guest, deciding finally that the child was old enough to know better than advert to a subject so delicate. "Well, it seemed that he was right. The guest stayed two days, and the little boy was silent as the grave, apparently, about his affection. Dr. Lombroso congratulated himself that he had judged his offspring's intelligence so well.

"The little boy, however, uttered a cry of rage when he came down to breakfast one morning and found the lame guest gone.

"'Gone!" he shouted. "He had no right to sneak off like that. He'd promised to show me his foot."

AN HONEST MAN SAVED BY A PHILANTHROPIST

Mr. T. A. Morgan, of Hammond, Ind., had suffered for years with his Charon to defend himself against stomach and kidneys, and while the large knocks handed to him in an great Root Juice scientist was proving the merits of the Root Juice remedy to the people of Northern Indiana, Mr. Morgan purchased six botiles of the Juice and while it was being wrapped up he said: "If Root Juice cures me I will make the scientist a present of one hundred dollars A'short while ago Mr. Morgan called on the scientist and said that he could eat anything without the slightest inconvenience and that his kidney trouble was entirely cured. He wanted the scientist to take the one hundred dollars, but it was refused. However, it was agreed to give the money to an orphan asylum. So Root Juice is not only curing the sick, but in this instance will be the indirect means of caring for some dead mother's child. Root Juice has proved its wonderful merits to many people of this point. From the very start it seems to soothe and heal the linings of the stomach and bowels and strengthen the liver and kidneys thereby giving nature a chance to, in him a series of articles about crim- her own way, throw off the impurities of the blood. It is a wonderful medicine. Sold for one dollar a bot tle or three for two and a half at Wilcox's drug store.

Just a Suggestion. In Shakespearean days they used to label the scenery. They hung out placards stating that "This is a wood" or "This is a castle." We don't need to do that now. Still, we might use the scheme to advantage. It would help sometimes to see an alleged Thespian bearing the legend, "This is an actor."

DATES FROM FEUDAL TIMES

Rod Used in Driving Oxen is the Original of Present System of Land Measurement.

The origin of the rod, pole or perch as a lineal and superficial measure has been traced to the rod, pole or goad used to urge and direct a team of oxen pulling a plow. So it came about it was used as a convenient and handy land measure in feudal times by the lords in allotting plots of land for agricultural purposes to the villeins and others, says a writer in the Builders' Journal.

One rod wide and 40 long (i. e., one furrow long, deep) built up a quarter of an acre. The furlong, or four poles wide and same depth-i. e., 40 poles, one acre-was a convenient length for a furrow before turning the plow. Of course these lengths somewhat varied in different parts of the country where soils and agriculture varied, but gradually the slight variations grew less and finally the present accepted statutory acre was evolved.

Gunter's chain of 66 feet (ten square chains to the acre) was invented by Rev. Edmund Gunter (1581-1626). He was a professor of astronomy at Gresham college, London, and ingeniously adapted it to facilitate decimal calculations in land measurements. The use of rod in superficial measurements of brick work and lineally in hedges, ditches and fences followed as a convenient existing measure.

PECULIARITIES OF THE EYES

Some Optical Effects Which Are Not Generally Understood-How to Look at Stars.

If one places a pin head up close to the eye and directly in front of it instead of seeing the pin right side up it will appear inverted. Also the head of the pin appears transparent and things may be seen as easily through it as through a sheet of isinglass, the head appearing simply as a large round cloud. If it is placed somewhat closer no pin or head can

If one gets into a very dark room and puts a lighted candle near the side of one eye very pretty and peculiar effects are observed. A tracery, forming a regular network, can be easily detected, and this is merely at the dark." This reminded a hearer Atchison. the shadow thrown by the candle on of the child who, on being asked why the retina of the eye of the small he was afraid on a dark night, replied: capillary blood vessels between the retina and the candle.

If one looks to the side of a dim star in the heavens the star appears a great deal brighter than direct vision makes it appear. This is because the light in the indirect view falls on what is known as the "yellow spot" or point of keenest vision. As this is not put directly behind the front of the eye the side glance is necessary. Some people can see stars that way that they cannot perceive at all on direct vision.-Sunday Magazine of the Pittsburg, Dispatch.

Pope as a Witness. Pope, like Garrick, made but a poor figure in the witness box. He was cited to appear in defense of Bishop Atterbury when that prelate was tried for high treason in the house of lords in 1723. "I never could speak in public," he told Spence afterward, "and I don't believe that, if it was set thing, I could give an account of any story to 12 friends together, though I could tell it to any three of them with a great deal of pleasure. When I was to appear for the bishop of Rochester in his trial, though I had but ten words to say, and that on a plain point (how the bishop spent his time when I was with him at Bromley), I made two or three blunders in it; and that notwithstanding the first row of lords (which was all I could see) were mostly of my acquantance.'

Martin Luther's Room.

The chamber of Martin Luther at Wartburg has fallen into a state of ruin. Admirers who have visited the Ritterhaus of Voburg, where the Elector Frederick the Wise offered asylum to the reformer, have allowed their real to exceed their discretion, and, vandal like, have carved their names with their pocket knives on the table, and chipped off bits from the bedstead, so that to restore ! would necessitate making it anew.

The same has happened with the plaster on the wall, and the famous ink stain has disappeared completely. It is high time that measures should be taken to make an end of these scandalous depredations. — Jenaer Volksblatt.

no board of missions is supporting; many who are not the recognized and salaried agents of any of the churches. Whenever to any home the gospel of life and light is brought, whoever the messenger may be, a missionary service has been rendered; and the missionary spirit may be shown as truly by the member of the family who tries to be brave and cheerful under difficulties as by those who carry to China or to India a better code of ethics, a higher order of morality, a more elevated standard of precept and practice.

The Lucrative End.

"So you don't want to be the manager of my new hotel!" "No," answered the head waiter. "I'd rather go on accepting gratuities in my present menial position." Natural Ink.

The River of Natural Ink is a natural curiosity said to exist in Algeria. It is caused by the junction of two streams, one of which drains a region strongly impregnated with iron, while the other flows from a peat-bog and holds a large quantity of gallic acid in solution. The union of these two streams causes the iron and the gallic acid to combine, and thus produces a genuine ink.

Britain's Upper House.

Britain's house of lords has now and has had in times past many nicknames. Some modern Englishmen call it the "chamber of horrors" and the "lethal chamber." When William Pitt "fell upstairs," as Lord Chesterfield put it, and became earl of Chatham Chesterfield spoke of it as that "hospital of incurables." Chatham himself used to call it "the tapestry," in allusion to its usual splendid lifelessness.

The Gold Bug Every time we make up our mind that there's no such thing as pirate gold buried hither and yon, something occurs to change our belief and to get us all on edge again. The recent severe storm along the coast of Yucatan is said to have uncovered thousands of last century English and Spanish coins buried by the old pirate Lafitte, and again into our soul comes that old boyhood unrest and belief that if we started out with a proper digging outfit and a reliable map we could unearth treasure galore. When people find a pot of gold, why in the name of Capt, Kidd can't they keep still about it and let us 'tend to our olissful knitting?-Boston Herald.

New Wireless System in Russia. The military department at St. Petersburg is taking considerable interest in a new system of wireless telegraphy which has been invented by a Russian student. It is claimed that messages have been sent from St. Petersburg to Sevastopol and received accurately. One of the principal features of the new system is that messages cannot be tapped by outside stations, and it is intended to build a station in the Ural mountains to connect with a similar station to be built in Vladivostock. The station will be built by the military engineers at a a cost of about $50,000 gold.

Quick to Learn Music.

The talent of the negro race for music is shown by the experience of the bandmaster of a regiment of native troops in Jamaica. When he took charge not a man in the command knew a single note. Only one or two could paly an instrument even a little. Yet in six months he had selected his musicians and taught them enough to appear in public. Two or three years later their fame had spread to England and they were invited there to give a series of concerts. Their tour was high y success-

New Embroidery Patterns.

One of the newest patterns in embroidery shows a table cover with a hemstitched border on two sides. The hems were ten inches deep. In the center threads were drawn to outline eight blocks, four on each side. with edges touching the hems. This brings the blocks in the center of the able. All blocks are embroidered in a different floral pattern, making it something original, and at the same time attractive.

An Admonition from Japan. "You shouldn't call us Japs in your newspapers," said a Japanese journalist. "We don't think it's polite. You wouldn't want us to call you Yanks in our papers, would you? A western congressman said to me the other day: 'What nese are you-Japanese or Chinese?' I'd have liked to jiu-jitsu him, but I only smiled and retorted: What key are you - monkey or Yankee?"

See Loewer's adonBack Page. Ambergris and Amber.

There is some popular confusion of ambergris with amber: in fact, however, there is no relation between them. But for a long time the nature of ambergris was hidden in mystery. In ancient days it was commonly believed that it flowed up from the bottom of the sea. Sinbad the Sailor tells of a spring of ambergris that he found; but it was in a crude state. The fish swallowed it and then disgorged it in congealed form and in this condition it floated on the surface of the sea. This story harmonizes perfectly with the old Arabian belief.

HUMOR FROM OVER WATER

Some Samples That Seem to Disprove Englishmen Have No Sense

We spoke last Sunday of the Pall Mall Gazette's funny column. Mr. C. E. Jerningham's "Maxims of Marmaduke" gives a more cheerful view of English wit and humor. Here are two or three samples:

"Almost every Englishman imag ines he is moral because he objects to immortality-in others."

"He who is drunk in a first-class carriage has had a fit; he who has had a fit in a third-class carriage is drunk!"

"Man-a biped with prejudiceswhich he calls principles."

Here is a quotation from "Woman as a Work of Art": "Since her return from the restorers at Homburg Mrs. B .- has, as we expected she would, greatly improved.

We are now able to detect the delicate coloring and the eleborate workmanship which were before obscured by unnecessary varnish. In Mrs. Bthe nation has secured an important example of the New York school. She possesses considerable freedom of style, but her middle distance is a trifle pompous."-Boston Herald.

recent local option election and the law will be in effect as soon as the final notices of election are ordered published by the Taney county court. The passing of the distilleries, and also the famous brew, "white mule," 's a matter of more than ordinary importance to the residents of the county, as these stills have been popular resorts for characters of questionable nature and have caused more or less trouble ever since they have been loated here.

A hard problem for the distillers to olve is in regard to where their next ocation shall be. All of the adjoining counties voted out saloons and allied interests some time ago, so Taney county has been the last refuge for the institutions in Southern Missouri.

It has been the custom for thirsty wanderers to pay frequent visits to the county in order to secure a few gallons of corn juice for immediate and future needs. It is thought that while these visits will be missed, the new regime will be satisfactory.
